

Edmund Atakora is a dedicated General Registered Nurse (Diploma) who has been practicing with the Agogo Presbyterian Hospital since November 2002.

He had his Secondary School Education at Apam Secondary School in the Central Region of Ghana and later relocated to Agogo where he started as a Records Clerk at the Agogo Presbyterian Hospital in January 1998. The Hospital Sponsored him to the Nurses' Training College from October 1999 to October 2002 and has since been working in the Hospital and at all Department where he finds himself. He has live to the satisfaction of the Nursing Administration, Medical Administration, ward in-charges, the Hospital as a whole and he is a friend to all patients.

His attachment to the Buruli Ulcer team has been of great significance since he is very good and competent when it comes to issues of wounds, dressing and general nursing care. He Joined the team in June 2006 and he is ever ready to support in all aspects of health care delivery. He had his Diploma at University Of Ghana, College Of Health Sciences, School Of Nursing, Legon

His ambition is to become a General surgeon in the near future and to Provide primary assistance to every individual whether sick or well in the performance of those activities leading to their health or to a peaceful death, which they would have done unaided if they have the necessary strength, will and knowledge.

CONTACT:

yawatakora@yahoo.co.uk
Edmund@agogohospital.org
Cell Phone +233244468485